Youth Seen No Barrier to Brennan
By JERR YLISKA

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP) — At 25, will Terry Brennan be too young to handle the helm of a Notre Dame football team which perennially plays one of the most rugged schedules in the land?

Irish authorities and players think the question of Brennan's youth is irrelevant, immaterial and inconsequential so does Brennan, who can talk that way because he holds a law degree.

Brennan, last Monday named successor to 45-year-old Frank Leahy, has tremendous confidence in himself. The young man from Milwaukee says it wasn't experience, but a knowledge of the way kids tick that gave him a high school record unmatched in Chicago prep history. That is his sole head coaching background as he heads into the pressure-packed job of guiding the always spotlight-fighting Irish.

Terry's Mount Carmel High eleven swept to three straight Chicago city championships (1950-51-52). Brennan says he accepted the Notre Dame assignment because he has a "good understanding of athletes and their problems."

"I don't know everything there is to know about kids," he solemnly said the lad whose face is the map of Ireland, "but I will strive to improve my understandings at Notre Dame whether the boy is an All-American or a third stringer."

"Once you get to know your kids," Brennan continued, "I'm of the firm opinion that 90 per cent of your coaching is done on the day of the game."

Like Leahy, young Brennan is a stickler for fundamentals and conditioning. He won't have any problem in introducing a new formation, because the Irish he inherits are well grounded in the mixture of T and Split T he featured at Mount Carmel.

Furthermore, he knows exactly what help to expect from Irish sophomores, because last fall he directed the freshmen.

Lattner Signs With Steelers
PITTSBURGH (AP) — All-American halfback Johnny Lattner of Notre Dame has signed a contract with the Pittsburgh Steelers of the National Football League, the club announced today.

The Steelers declined to disclose the cash terms of the contract with their No. 1 draft choice. A club spokesman said Lattner was signed last night by Head Coach Joe Bach at the South Bend, Ind., home of Julius Tucker, a close friend of Lattner's who has acted as an "unofficial agent for several Notre Dame players in the past.

The All-American half back led nation's collegiate players in kick-off returns last year with a 41-yard average, was second on the Notre Dame squad in punting with 1,045 yards and an average of 44.5 yards per kick.

Lattner was a first-team All-American in 1953 and a second-teamer in 1952. He was named to the 1953 All-American team by the United Press.

Only Three Teams Stay Unbeaten
By BEN PHLEGAR
NEW YORK (AP) — Perfect basketball records are vanishing as fast as the 5-cent cup of coffee.

Only three major college quintets were left today in the shrinking circle of the all-winning elite. Connecticut was knocked out last night by Fordham 70-63 after 14 straight, leaving only the twin terrors of the Blue Grass country — Western Kentucky and the University of Kentucky — and Duquesne.

The Kentucky team left tonight, Western goes after its 21st triumph against Stetson and the University tries for No. 15 against Georgia. Duquesne with 18 in a row doesn't play again until Wednesday.

Schedule for Cage Meets Revamped
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Athletic Commission has revamped the schedule for games in the two big state high school basketball tournaments — the Class A and Class B senior boys meets.

Johnnie Burnett, AAA executive secretary, said the group's Executive Committee decided yesterday to extend the tournaments from four to five days.

Both of this year's tournaments will begin on a Tuesday and run through Saturday. One result of the change is elimination of morning games.

Arkansas State College at Jonesboro is host for the Class A tournament while the Class B contest will be played at Little Rock.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK (AP) — A baby-faced baseball player just past voting age had a cyst no bigger than a quarter cut off the underside of his right knee out at Springfield, Mo., yesterday, and full details of the surgery were speed on the news wires to every corn of the country.

The young man being sliced was, of course, Mickey Mantle, the "phenom" who plays center field for the champion New York Yankees. The fact that it was only a minor operation on a young man who still has to prove himself a great ballplayer didn't matter.

Anything that happens to the wonder boy from Oklahoma is of prime interest to every baseball fan in the land, as we have discovered by listening.

Ever since the kid came up three years ago, completely unheralded, to step into the starting lineup of the world champions, it has been so.

The explanation lies, we believe, in the common feeling that there is something tragic about Mickey. There has been an almost morbid interest in his star-struck that ever since it became known that he was a victim of osteomyelitis, a bone disease which can be arrested but is believed not to be durable.

In his first World Series, before millions of television witnesses, the kid from Commerce raced after a fly into right center field at the Stadium and suddenly fell and lay still, as though he had been shot. He was carried off, and it was found he had stepped into a drainage depression and injured his right knee.

More two seasons he has played with the handicap of a slightly taped, sometimes painful knee that often kept him out of the lineup. He got into only 136 games the past year, and immediately after the playoff against Brooklyn hastened home to enter the hospital and undergo make-or-break surgery.

There was, and is, every indication that the operation was a complete success. The country saw photos of Mickey in bed and again on crutches. It read that he would be ready to report to training camp as good as new, and he rejoiced that the kid apparently had licked his private jinx. And, then, next, there came the news that he had "overdone" his exercising and that more cutting would be necessary.

All the Yankee can do about Mantle is cross their fingers and hope. He could repair the difference between a sixth straight World Series melon and maybe second place to the Boston Red Sox. He knocked across 92 runs in his 136 games last year, second only to Yogi Berra on the club. If he wasn't great he was at least mighty comforting to have around.

Phoenix Open Is Wide Open
PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The touring golf origami made its annual stop here today in what appears to be a wide open chase for the $10,000 Phoenix Open Championship.

It will be the conventional 72-hole made play with 143 ambitious titular-minded players in the field.

Although he hasn't been doing too much lately in California tournaments, Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill., remains the sentimental favorite. Mangrum has triumphed two years running here and if he succeeds again he will establish an all-time record in Phoenix.

Just about everybody except Ben Hogan and the injured Dutch Harrison will line up at the starting tee this morning.

The tournament will run through Sunday.

Two Arkansans Survive in Fights
MEMPHIS (AP) — Only two Arkansas fighters survived the preliminary card of the Open Division in Golden Gloves Mid-South Tournament of Champions here last night.

James Ellis of Searcy defeated Gene Hetherington of Memphis in a middleweight bout, and welterweight Scrapper Moore of Little Rock defeated Sal Blodolillo of New Orleans on points.

In the flyweight class, David Starling of Joiner, Ark., dropped a decision to Gordon French of Senatobia, Mo.

Dale Davis of Senatobia defeated Raymond Vegas of Wilson, Ark., in another welterweight class.

Teachers Lose Top Pointmaker

CONWAY, Ark. — Arkansas State Teachers has lost its leading pointmaker, Larry Cranford, for the remainder of the basketball season but the high-fiving Bears didn't need him last night to whip Henderson 69-64.

Henderson handed Teachers its first defeat of the Arkansas Intercollegiate Conference race last week at Arkadelphia. With the advantage of playing at home here apparently offsetting Cranford's loss, Teachers gained revenge.

Cranford was kicked off the squad yesterday by Coach Red Garrison, who charged the AIC's top scorer with breaking training rules.

Furman Cager Top Scorer in History
NEW YORK (AP) — Frank Selvy of Furman is now concentrating on dispelling any lingering doubts about his rights to the title of the greatest scorer in the history of major-college basketball.

Leading the country with a 38.2 points-per-game average, Selvy plays tonight at Madison Square Garden against Manhattan with two chief personal objectives in mind.

One is "atonement." In last year's game at the garden, Manhattan not only held him to 15 points, but his split-second delay before putting the ball through the hoop right after the final buzzer left Furman with a one-point defeat instead of a one-point victory.

The other is to continue closing in on the point totals of the only three men who have scored more than he has in major competition. And all needed four years and many more games to compile their figures, compared to Selvy's two-and-a-half seasons and 64 games to date.

NCAA Service Bureau statistics show that Selvy already holds the point record for a third-year career with 1904, surpassing the 1888 Clyde Lovellette scored for Kansas in 77 games. Still to be caught are Jim Lacy, who made 2154 in 119 games for Loyola of Baltimore, and Che t Giermak, who made 1970 in 104 games for William and Mary; and Tony Lavelli, who scored 1944 in 96 games for Yale.

LSU's Bob Pettit is currently second in the standings with a 33.2 average that would be considered phenomenal — if Selvy wasn't ahead of him. And third-place Arnold Short, of Oklahoma City, has been reduced to an also-ran by a 29.1 average that had been surpassed only once in the history of the game until Selvy came along.
